Kanchi Acharyas camp in Mylapore

The Sankaracharya of Kanchi Kamakoti Peetam Jagadguru His Holiness Pujya Shri Shankara Vijayendra Saraswathi and junior pontiff His Holiness Pujya Shri Satya Chandrasekharendra Saraswathi will be camping at Vidya Mandir School campus in Luz, Mylapore between Sept 22 and Oct 2.

Incidentally this is the first visit of the 71st Sankaracharya Pujya Shri Satya Chandrasekharendra Saraswathi who was anointed to the Peetam on April 30 this year.

Organized by Sri Kanchi Mahaswami Trust and Vidya Mandir and dubbed as A Divine Lens for a Rare Spiritual Experience, the Acharyas also inaugurated an exhibition Divya Desam on Sept 21.

The Acharyas will perform the Chandramouleeswarar pooja and Sarada Navaratri Mahotsavam daily during their stay. Pattina Pravesam was held on Sept 20 from Kamarajapuram Bus Stop Velachery Main Road to Sri Kanchi Mahaswami Vidya Mandir in Tambaram East.

The devotees are requested to attend the events and get the blessings of the Acharyas during the auspicious Tamil month. For further details please visit www.srikanchimahaswamividya-mandir.org

Navaratri festival at Sri Velliswarar temple

The nine-day Navaratri festival commenced with placing goddess Kamakshi at Anna vahanam at Golu mantapam at the temple followed by special prayers at the Sri Velliswarar temple in Mylapore on Sept 22.

The next day devotees had the darshan of Amman on Kamadhenu vahanam. On Sept 24 the Goddess was decorated in Saraswathi alankaram.

On Sept 25, the goddess will be placed on Naga vahanam in Padmasini alankaram and on Sept 26, the Ambal will be kept on a Rishaba vahanam in Maheswari alankaram.

Devotees can see the goddess in Raja Rajeswari alankaram on Sept 27 and Meenakshi alankaram on horse vahanam on the following day. On Sept 29 the Ambal will give darshan on Mahishasura Mardhini alankaram and there will be Kamba Nadhi Siva Pooja on Sept 30. There will be Parivattai vizha with Sundareswara Swami on horse vahanam on Oct 1.

During Navaratri there will be special abhishekam to the Ambal at 6 AM and the decorated vigraha will be taken to the golu mandapam. There will be special thooba theba aradhana to the Goddess Kamakshi every day.

In the evening from 5 30 PM daily there will be cultural programs for nine days after special alankarams and abhishekam to the Goddess placed on the golu mandapam, says S Elango, chief trustee of the temple board administered by Thiru Mayilai Sengunthar Maha Sabha.

The following will be the cultural programs in the evenings and the devotees are invited to witness the talents of artists, according to K Yuvaraj and R Rajendran, trustees of the temple

Madras-Mylapore Clergy 'Reset' Velankanni

The Archdiocese of Madras-Mylapore held its Clergy Retreat and Jubilee Pilgrimage at the Shrine of Our Lady of Velankanni last week at Velankanni

The five-day retreat at the Velankanni Retreat Centre was preached by Fr. Xavier Raj, CSsR, and attended by Archbishop of Madras Mylapore Dr. George Antonysamy together with the diocesan clergy.

The sessions invited priests to a “Reset” in their spiritual and pastoral life, with talks on humility, obedience, forgiveness, overcoming addictions, cultivating holiness, living in the Spirit, and drawing strength from the Eucharist and the Blessed Virgin Mary.

Archbishop George Antonysamy also presided over a solemn Concelebrated Holy Eucharist at the Basilica of Our Lady of Velankanni, joined by the entire clergy of the Archdiocese. The Mass was also telecast live, enabling the faithful to unite spiritually with their shepherds.

In his address, the Archbishop underlined the importance of priestly fraternity. “We fall in love, but friends have to be made,” he told the clergy, emphasizing that friendship does not happen by chance but through deliberate effort.

Quoting C.S. Lewis' Mere Christianity, he added: “Lovers look at each other, but friends look in the same direction

The Archbishop urged priests to foster genuine bonds of friendship, rooted in shared mission and service, as a source of strength for their ministry and the life of the Archdiocese.

The retreat and pilgrimage were marked by renewed commitment, as the clergy entrusted themselves to the maternal intercession of Our Lady of Good Health, Velankanni.

MRC resident Rathore in race for HoPF

Dr Sandeep Rai Rathore

The Union Public Service Commission (UPSC) has scheduled the Empanelment Committee Meeting (ECM) for Sept 26 in New Delhi to prepare a shortlist of three senior police officers for appointment as the next Director General of Police (DGP) and Head of Police Force (HoPF) in Tamil Nadu.

The meeting will be chaired by the UPSC Chairman and will include the Union Home Secretary, the Tamil Nadu Chief Secretary and a senior officer nominated by the Ministry of Home Affairs.

Normally, the incumbent State DGP is part of the panel, but in this case, only the Chief Secretary will participate as in-charge DGP G. Venkatraman is himself a contender for the post.

Among the eight officers in the fray, Dr Sandeep Rai Rathore and Seema Agrawal and are the leading contenders based on seniority. Both are serving as DGP now in various capacities. Rathore is the resident of Ceebros One74 in MRC Nagar.

The other names forwarded are K. Vannia Perumal, Mahesh Kumar Aggarwal, G. Venkatraman, Vinit Dev Wankhede, and Sanjay Mathur.

DGPs Pramod Kumar and Abhay Kumar Singh, though interested, are unlikely to be considered due to limited residual service.

The move to finalize a regular DGP gained urgency after the Supreme Court recently pulled up the State for delay in implementing its directives in the landmark Prakash Singh case

The apex court, while disposing of a related petition on Sept 9, urged the UPSC to expedite the process and asked the State government to appoint a full-time police chief without further delay.

As per the new Single Window System adopted by UPSC, State Chief Secretaries must certify eligibility and issue an Integrity Certificate before the ECM. If the panel is cleared on Sept 26, the Tamil Nadu government is expected to issue appointment orders swiftly, with a regular DGP likely to take charge by Oct 1

Dr JS Rajkumar inaugurates a blood donation camp

On 17thSept Dr. J.S. Rajkumar—Chairman of Lifeline Hospitals, an acclaimed surgeon, nationalist and a social activist—honored the Prime Minister Narendra Modi's 75th birthday with a curated day of public service across Mylapore. Rather than ceremony, the emphasis was squarely on care, community, and civic spirit.

The morning began with a free medical check-up camp at Bommai Chatram 8.30 am–2 pm where over 100 residents were screened for various health issues

An hour later, he inaugurated a blood-donation drive on the venue's first floor; a regular donor himself, Dr Rajkumar rolled up his sleeve and ensured that 75 units were donated by him Saved over months

At 10:30 am, he addressed MBA students at Amity College of Business Management, reflecting on India's development trajectory and the Prime Minister's vision for the years ahead.

Midday saw an annadhanam at the Sai Baba Temple, serving around 300 people. In the late afternoon at Annai Sathya Nagar, he led a breast cancer awareness and screening camp, concluding with the distribution of sarees and blouse pieces to 100 women who attended

The day closed on an analytical note at Doordarshan (Tamil), where Dr Rajkumar joined Prof. Kanakasabapathy and other experts on a panel discussing the Prime Minister's achievements

No place to perform Mahalaya Amavasai in Mylapore

Hundreds of people who had started assembling near the Sri Kapaleeswarar temple tank from 6 AM to perform pinda pradhan and tharpanam to their forefathers on the auspicious occasion of Mahalaya Amavasai were disappointed

It's auspicious to perform the rituals near a river or a tank and since there is no river in and around Chennai people had started gathering near the temple tank. A large number of vadhyaars or purohit had also come to help perform tharpanam to the uninitiated.

Only one gate was opened to the people by the temple administration that too after a long wait and many people performed the rituals under the near bus stand and pavements.

"This is not the first year such a thing is happening and not many can invite vadhyaars and perform the rituals at home due to cost factor. That's why we come here every year so that we can finish within the budget.

The Sri Kapali temple administration refuses to open all the gates and earmark only a narrow space to perform rituals where not more than 10 people can sit," laments Kathiresan, a resident of Mandaveli who has been coming here for the past decade.

"Puranas talk about doing pitru karyams in sacred rivers and places like Amma Mandapam in Srirangam. Since there is no decent river flowing across Chennai people flock to Kapaleeswarar temple tank to do tharpanam and it's getting overcrowded by the year. Doing tharpanam on a public platform or under the bus stand is not considered sacred," says Pattabhirama Vadhyar, a purohit.

Added to the confusion are hawkers selling dharbai, poonool, vibuthi and sesame seed occupying the pavements.

"When the Corporation or temple authorities turn a blind eye to hundreds of Navaratri golu dolls shop set up by the hawkers on three mada streets restricting movements, why not provide space for those who want to do tharpanam.

We have been shouting for the past few years and nothing had changed. We request the local MLA and councilors to come to the rescue of the people, many are senior citizens and infirm," says R Venkatram who retired from the Canara Bank and a resident of Mylapore

"It's shameful for people to stand behind those performing the rituals and asking the purohit to hurry up resulting in war of words at a sacred place. It's the duty of the State Government or the temple to throw open the tank for such purposes. Agree many may leave behind tharbais and sesame seeds on the steps and make the place untidy but temple can afford to clean up as its flush with funds given by devotees," money," he says.

PS. Sr Secondary School's annual day

The Golden Jubilee Annual Day of P.S. Senior Secondary School, Mylapore, was celebrated on two days recently at Narada Gana Sabha in Alwarpet

The Chief Guest on the first day Dr R Seetharaman, former CEO, Doha Bank gave a profound speech on how destiny is a matter of choice and the role of discipline in shaping one's life.

The Chairman of the school Sri P C Ramakrishna said that students must fly high, yet always remember their roots. The Principal Dr Revathy Parameswaran read out the annual report highlighting the school's activities, results and events of the academic year that ended.

The second event witnessed President of PS Educational Society K V S Gopalakrishnan addressing the audience and spoke on the importance of our culture and tradition. The Chief Guest R D Nazeem, Additional Chief Secretary, Government of Himachal Pradesh and an alumnus of the school recalled with fondness the role the school had played in his formative years

He quoted a few episodes from his school days to show how the overall development of the students was aimed at, as the fundamental purpose of education. He distributed prizes to children who had excelled in academic and co-curricular activities. The school newsletter Mystique was released. The students presented a cultural entertainment on the theme 'Incredible India'.
